FOLLOW-UP SYSTEM — THE MONEY PROMPTS

1. Day-3 Check-In Quote is fresh

Using the context I gave you about my business, draft a friendly check-in email to [CUSTOMER NAME]. I quoted them [SERVICE] at $[AMOUNT] on [DATE]. I'm not pushing — just seeing if they have questions. Keep it short, one paragraph max. Sound like me.

2. Week-2 Nudge Quote going cold

Using the context I gave you about my business, draft a follow-up to [CUSTOMER NAME]. I quoted them [SERVICE] at $[AMOUNT] two weeks ago and haven't heard back. Mention that I wanted to make sure the quote didn't get buried. Offer to answer questions or adjust the scope if needed. Friendly, not desperate.

3. Last-Chance Check Quote about to expire

Using the context I gave you about my business, draft a final follow-up to [CUSTOMER NAME]. Their quote for [SERVICE] at $[AMOUNT] expires in a few days. Let them know I'd hate for them to miss the pricing if they're still interested, and I'm happy to re-quote if things changed. Warm — this is a relationship, not a transaction.

4. Post-Job Review Ask Day of completion

Using the context I gave you about my business, draft a quick follow-up to [CUSTOMER NAME]. We just finished [SERVICE] at their place today. Thank them, mention the specific work we did, let them know to reach out if anything comes up, and ask if they'd leave a Google review. Personal, not templated.

5. Referral Tap After a good job

Using the context I gave you about my business, draft a casual message to [CUSTOMER NAME]. We finished their [SERVICE] job [TIMEFRAME] ago and they were happy. Ask if they know anyone who might need [RELATED SERVICE]. Not asking them to sell for me — just planting the seed.

6. Past Customer Re-Engage Dormant relationship

Using the context I gave you about my business, draft a message to [CUSTOMER NAME]. We did [SERVICE] for them about [TIMEFRAME] ago. Check in — see how things are holding up and remind them we're here. If it's been a while, mention any new services we offer. Like checking in on a neighbor, not selling.

ESTIMATES & QUOTES

7. Messy Notes to Clean Estimate

Using the context I gave you about my business, turn these job notes into a clean estimate for [CUSTOMER NAME] at [ADDRESS]: [PASTE YOUR NOTES — messy is fine]. Scope of work at the top. Labor and materials separate. Total at the bottom. Professional but not corporate. Valid for 30 days.

8. Scope of Work Write-Up

Using the context I gave you about my business, write a scope of work for a [SERVICE] job. Here's what we're doing: [DESCRIBE IN YOUR OWN WORDS]. Write it so a homeowner understands it. 2-3 paragraphs, no jargon.

CUSTOMER COMMUNICATION

9. Reply to a Complaint

Using the context I gave you about my business, a customer sent me this: "[PASTE MESSAGE]" — Draft a response. Acknowledge their frustration, explain what happened, and offer [SOLUTION / NEXT STEPS]. Takes responsibility without over-apologizing. Sound like me.

10. Quick Reply to a New Lead

Using the context I gave you about my business, someone reached out about [SERVICE] through [SOURCE]. Their message: "[PASTE MESSAGE]" — Draft a quick reply. Thank them, confirm we do that work, suggest [NEXT STEP — call, site visit, etc.]. Warm and fast.

11. Overdue Invoice Follow-Up

Using the context I gave you about my business, draft a polite but firm follow-up to [CUSTOMER NAME] about invoice #[NUMBER] for $[AMOUNT], due [DATE]. It's [HOW LATE] overdue. Direct but keeps the relationship intact. Mention payment options: [LIST OPTIONS].

OPERATIONS

12. Crew Job Instructions

Using the context I gave you about my business, write up job instructions for my crew going to [ADDRESS] tomorrow for [SERVICE]: [PASTE YOUR NOTES]. Include: customer name/contact, scope of work, special notes or access info, materials to bring. Short — they'll read this on their phone.

13. Google Review Response

Using the context I gave you about my business, a customer left this review: "[PASTE REVIEW]" — Draft a response from [YOUR NAME]. If positive: thank them personally, mention the specific work. If negative: acknowledge the issue, take responsibility where it fits, offer to make it right. Real — other customers are reading this.
